When a former professional boxer heard his wife had been raped by her boss, a lawyer at a downtown Tokyo firm, he lost his temper. After beating the man to a pulp in a blind rage, he took out a secateurs and cut off the man's penis. And flushed it down the toilet.

But when he was arrested, it was discovered that his 25-year old wife had never been raped at all. In fact, she had been having an affair with the lawyer, but had lied to her husband to escape his anger.

2ch netizens say that the husband's rage was entirely understandable, that the lawyer, also married, got what was coming to him, and the wife? Oh, they really don't like the wife.

On August 13, suspect Kotsugai Ikki (24), a former professional boxer and graduate student at the prestigious Keio University Law School was arrested for inflicting bodily injury.

Early on the morning of August 13, Kotsugai repeatedly punched Mr. A, a lawyer at the law offices in Minato Ward where Kotsugai's wife works as an administrator, in the face. Then, when A was only half-conscious, Kotsugai suddenly made him remove his trousers and then cut off A's penis at its base using a pair of secateurs (20cm in length with a 6cm blade) that he had brought with him.

Kotsugai then fled the room still grasping the part of A's penis that he had cut off, and flushed it down the communal toilets in the building.

The toilet is now a crime scene.

A reporter from a national publication told us: "Kotsugai and his wife had been married for two years, and his wife was supporting the family, including his spending money. They were well-known in their neighborhood and they were a happy couple, but on the other hand, it appeared that Mr. A, Kotsugai's wife's superior at work, had been having relationship troubles. A is also married, and is a father of four, but it appears that he also has a more frivolous side, and used to boast that he'd only become a lawyer because he wanted to drive a Ferrari. On the morning of the incident, they'd wanted for the three of them to meet and discuss things, but during the conversation Kotsugai became indignant at what A was saying, and apparently beat him to a pulp... While her husband was in the middle of this disgusting act, the wife just stared on stupefied, and did nothing to stop her husband".

When Akasaka Police rushed to the scene following the incident being reported, the office was covered in blood and A was found collapsed and gasping. Since Kotsugai admitted his involvement, he was arrested at the scene.

Although A's life was not in danger, the part of his penis that was flushed down the toilet has yet to be found, and Police efforts to search the sewers for it have so far been in vain.

According to police investigations, A and Kotsugai's wife had been having sexual relations, and when Kotsugai was cross-examined about this, he told police that his wife had said that Mr. A had raped her.

I can understand why he did something like that, because he thought that his beloved wife had been raped. Punish the woman! She's the villain in all of this.

Well, I mean, that lawyer did cheat with the guy's wife, so I don't really feel any sympathy for him.

If his anger had been directed towards his wife he'd probably have killed her.
She's better off breaking up with a guy like that.

In some countries and jurisdictions, even allegedly "advanced" and "democratic" countries, it's a legal issue. Adulterers can face prison time.

If the wife and lawyer were having troubles with their relationships, they should have divorced to avoid the affair. Seriously, why do people even cheat? It's not worth it!

The guy's reaction is understandable, anyone would fly into a fit of rage if their wife told them her boss had raped her. Rape is a serious accusation, she is completely at fault for falsely accusing her boss and instigating her husband into violence. What was she expecting, for him to shrug it off and say "Cool story bro."?

The wife should be brought to justice. But I highly doubt that lying cheat will escape with anything more than a slap on the wrists and a stern warning, while her poor husband rots in jail.

That's messed up but... that lawyer sounded like a douche, granted that's not really a reason to cut his dick off but I sure as hell don't feel any sympathy for him. Sure hope that guy's cheating wife doesn't get away with this, she accused her lover of rape which led to the assault.. she should at least be tried as an accomplice or accessory to the crime.

If the violent thug had simply punched out the scumbag lawyer (*now there is a redundancy), broken a few teeth and put him in hospital for a few weeks/months, a court and the public might have found some sympathy for him. Not for this.

fuck around all you want. it's a decision between two consenting adults. People that say you shouldn't cheat and blame the lawyer in any way needs to to go fuck themselves. The boxer needs his penis cut off and his wife executed by a searing steel rod up her vagina.

That lawyer literally fucked with the wrong person. Oops. Guess he won't be having any more affairs after this. Too bad the wife can't be held accountable in court for this. Or can she? She didn't call the police to report the rape, so...
