

THE NEWS FJUNKIE

Model Kayla Earl Fakes Cemetery Attack, Rape To Win Back Boyfriend

When interviewed at the hospital by detectives, she told them she was visiting a friend's gravesite at the cemetery. While there, she told them, a man came up from behind her and put a bag over her head. Her vehicle was found parked in the cemetery.

The woman said she struggled with the man, and was able to break free. She then ran to the roadway, where she said she passed out.

It sounded like an horrific attack – a woman enters a cemetery to pay respects to a friend when she’s attacked and brutally raped. There’s just one problem: It wasn’t true.

A woman found on a Pleasant Grove roadside early today with a Walmart bag over her head has admitted to making up the entire ordeal.

It would seem, police said, that the 19-year-old Hueytown woman was trying to lure back her estranged boyfriend with sympathy. “She is going through some personal problems,” said Pleasant Grove Detective Jason Davis. “Between that and wanting attention, it turns out none of this happened.”

You can either try to win back your boyfriend the old fashioned way (buy him a steak, get naked, etc) or you can pretend that you were attacked and raped. The choice is yours, ladies.

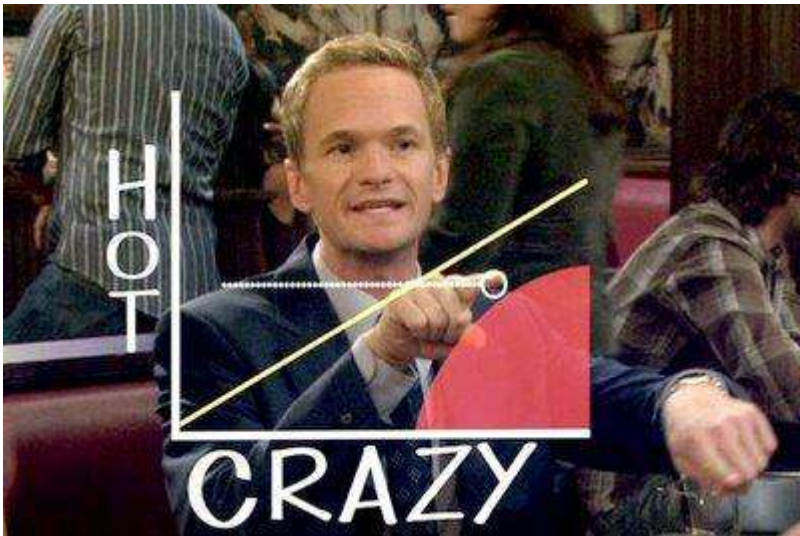

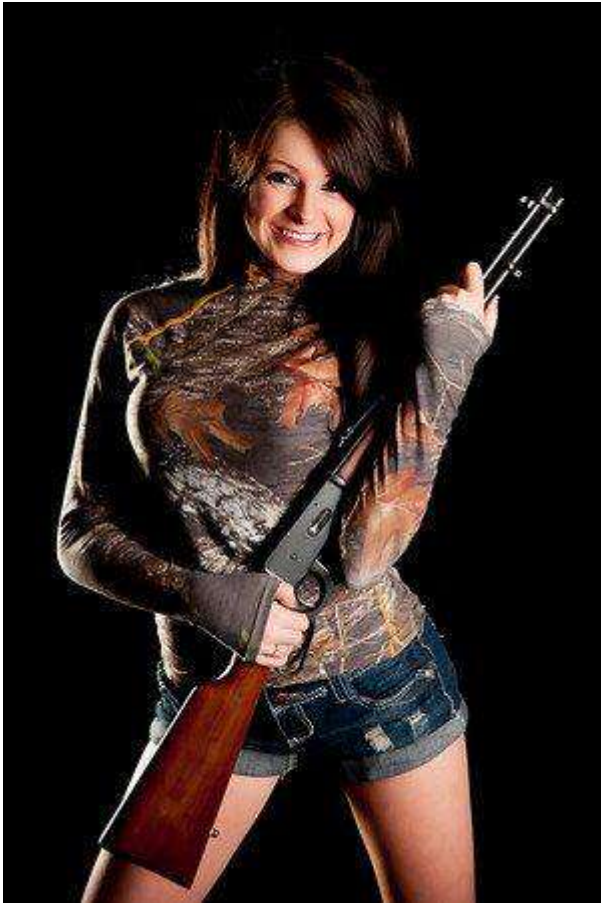

Here’s some more photos of Kayla Earl.

<http://thenewsjunkie.com/model-kayla-earl-fakes-cemetery-attack-rape-to-win-back-boyfriend/>